INTERVIEW FORM

Consent

At Yale Law School's invitation, I am participating in an oral history interview about my life and times, as part of a Yale Law School course taught by Professors Daniel Markovits and Norman I. Silber, titled "The Lives of Lawyers." I consent that a class interviewer shall take audio and video recordings (these recordings will hereinafter be called the "Participant Materials") of my statements, image, likeness, actions, voice, conversations and other material spoken or otherwise provided by me. I understand that I will receive from the interviewer a full audio and video copy of my interview for the purposes of my review and possible supplementation within thirty days after receipt.

Grant

I grant to Yale University, acting through Yale Law School (collectively, "Yale") the right to copy, reproduce, photograph, distribute, transmit, broadcast, exhibit, transcribe, digitize, display, copyright, license, transfer, reproduce, or otherwise use perpetually throughout the world in all media now existing and hereinafter invented all the Participant Materials, or a portion of such. I also grant Yale the right to use my name and biographical information in connection with its uses of the Participant Materials. Both rights are limited to educational and scholarly uses. I affirm that Yale will be the sole owner and proprietor of the Participant Materials and that I will not retain any property right, copyright, or other rights therein.

Release

I release Yale, including its faculty and students for any claim that Yale, including its faculty and students, has, in connection with the Participant Materials; defamed me, invaded my privacy, or infringed my moral rights, rights of publicity or copyright.

General

Yale will deposit and store the Participant Materials in its library for scholarly and educational uses. I understand that Yale is not obligated to utilize the rights granted in this Interview Form and all rights, permissions and releases granted herein extend and apply to Yale, Yale Law School and their assigns, contractors, licensees, distributors, successors, and agents. This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of Connecticut without regard to its principles of conflicts of laws, and shall be binding on me, my heirs, assigns, licensees, and legal representatives.

I have had the opportunity to review this form before commencement of my interview.

INTERVIEW FORM

Consent

At Yale Law School's invitation, I am participating in an oral history project about my life and times, as part of a Yale Law School course taught by Professors Daniel Markovits and Norman I. Silber, titled "The Lives of Lawyers" (the "Project"). I consent to recordings by a class interviewer of my statements, image, likeness, actions, voice, conversations and other material spoken or otherwise provided by me for inclusion in the Project (the "Participant Materials"). I understand that I will receive from the interviewer a full audio copy of my interview for the purposes of my review and possible supplementation of the audio record within thirty days after receipt.

Grant

I grant to Yale University, acting through Yale Law School (collectively, "Yale") the right to copy, reproduce, photograph, distribute, transmit, broadcast, exhibit, transcribe, digitize, display, copyright, license, transfer, reproduce, or otherwise use perpetually throughout the world in all media now existing and hereinafter invented all the Participant Materials, or a portion of such and my name and biographical information, for educational and other purposes. Except as provided below, I affirm that Yale will be the sole owner and proprietor of the Participant Materials, and that I will not retain any property right, copyright, or other rights therein. However, Yale hereby recognizes that in the future I may publish articles, write a book or books, give interviews, give speeches, present seminars, and/or contribute to videos or other similar presentations concerning the subject matter of the oral interview[s] that is the subject of this agreement. Yale hereby agrees that I can take any of these actions without violating any copyright that Yale may acquire by virtue of this agreement, and that I will have full rights to copyright any future work that I create or to which I contribute. Yale recognizes that some of the materials I may provide the interviewer are protected by copyrights owned by me or others. Yale agrees that any materials provided by me in connection of the Project that are identified by me as being protected by copyrights owned by me or others, will not be deemed "Participant Materials" for the purposes of this Interview Form and shall not be owned in any way by Yale, nor will Yale be the proprietor of any such materials.

Release

I release Yale, including its faculty and students, from any and all claims arising in connection with the Participant Materials, including any claim that Yale, including its faculty and students, has defamed me, invaded my privacy, or infringed my moral rights, rights of publicity or copyright.

General

I agree that Yale is not obligated to utilize the rights granted in this Interview Form and all rights, permissions and releases granted herein extend and apply to Yale, Yale Law School and their assigns, contractors, licensees, distributors, successors, and agents. This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the State of Connecticut without regard to its principles of conflicts of laws, and shall be binding on me, my heirs, assigns, licensees, and legal representatives.
